

Here's a short statement I just wrote. I hope this helps:

As a global community of advocates for science and justice, the March for Science stands with the scientific community in India. Over the last 3 years our international community has held over 1000 events and mobilized millions of marchers worldwide in support of science for the common good. Our organizing is working. In many countries our advocacy has helped increase the science budget, overturned attacks on science education, and made science issues a central focus of elections. We send solidarity to the India March for Science, thank you for all your incredible organizing, and support you in all your goals."

Wow 65 marches! Congratulations, that is truly amazing. I can't wait to see all the pictures and read the reports.

All the best,
